

WHITBY · NORTH YORK MOORS · THE COAST

Whitby, Moors & Coast Tour

*From rolling English hills to the sublime edge of the North Sea —
one unhurried, private day along Yorkshire's most storied coast.*

The Yorkshire coast, as it was meant to be seen.

This is a day for anyone who loves glorious scenery — for couples and families drawn to the beach, for lovers of English history, and for travellers who simply want Yorkshire's most beautiful places to themselves.

You'll be introduced to some of the county's most picturesque villages and to Whitby itself — one of England's most ancient coastal towns, dripping in history and forever linked to Dracula and its creator, Bram Stoker, who wrote the novel here.

It's also where the world's most famous explorer, Captain James Cook, learned to sail. And on the way, we cross the North York Moors National Park — one of England's most unique and lovely landscapes.

A SINGLE, UNHURRIED DAY

8 hours

from rolling hills to the North Sea and quietly home again.

One group private, and never shared.

More than a coast. A place of legend.

Six reasons this stretch of Yorkshire stays with guests long after the sea air fades.

Whitby Abbey

The dramatic cliff-top ruin of one of England's most ancient and special holy sites.

Bram Stoker & Dracula

The ancient town that inspired Dracula — Bram Stoker wrote the novel right here in Whitby.

Captain James Cook

Where the world's most famous explorer first learned to sail the open sea.

The Yorkshire Coast

Thrilling and beautiful in equal parts — giant cliffs that predate the dinosaurs.

North York Moors

Remote, lonely and unique — one of England's most lovely national parks.

Private touring

Your day, at your pace, in a Mercedes-Benz V-Class — never shared with strangers.

Entirely, genuinely private

Your party only — never shared with strangers. The whole day unfolds at your pace, in your way, from the moment we collect you.

THE YORKSHIRE COAST

*"Picture the mighty North Sea in autumn, its huge waves pummelling ancient cliffs
— or a summer's day, the lapis-blue sea gently lapping stone older than the dinosaurs."*

Every detail, quietly taken care of.

A private tour is defined by small freedoms.
Here is how the day is shaped around you.

We come to you

Collected from your accommodation in York, Harrogate, Leeds and other locations by prior arrangement.

An unhurried start

The day typically begins at 9:00am, but the pace is always yours to set — it's your day.

Lunch, your call

World-famous fish & chips, something else entirely, or no lunch at all. Your guide only joins if you invite them.

Optional walking tour

After lunch, your guide can lead a strictly optional walk through Whitby's ancient streets.

A day from moor to coast.

Timings flex to your wishes — but a typical day runs something like this, out to the sea and quietly home again.

9:00am

Collection from York

Welcomed to the day ahead from your York accommodation.

Morning

Rolling countryside

Easy, bucolic English hills to begin — the gentlest possible opening to the day.

Afternoon

Whitby Abbey & Goathland

The cliff-top abbey, then across the moors to Goathland — perhaps a steam train arriving.

~7:00pm

Scenic return to York

A picturesque route home, stopping several times along the way.

Lunch in Whitby is entirely yours.

Whitby is world-famous for its fish & chips — but if that's not your thing, there are plenty of other options. It's perfectly fine to have no lunch at all. The choice, like the whole day, is always yours.
